

HIPAA

Health Insurance Portability

What is HIPAA?

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act. This law is the first comprehensive Federal protection for the privacy of personal health information, passed by Congress in 1996, and implemented in April 2003.

HIPAA compliance is mandatory

What is the purpose of HIPAA?

HIPAA is a federal law enacted to:

health information

Provide for electronic and physical security of

Why do we need to know about HIPAA?

health information or work directly with patients it is your responsibility to protect the privacy of the patient.

As a Nursing Student at the University of St. Francis, you are expected to know, understand and comply with this federal regulation in all clinical settings.

Who must comply with HIPAA?

HIPAA includes all entities that provide, bill or pay for medical care or process medical information. These include the following:

- Health care providers

- Health Plans

- Clearinghouses

- Business associates

What Health Information is Covered?

Individually Identifiable Health Information which includes:

Any information that is:

- Spoken

- Written

- Electronic

Related to:

- Treatment of physical or mental health conditions

- Payment of healthcare

- Healthcare operations

Notice of Privacy Practice

Written information related to the privacy practices must be given to each patient.

Information must include the covered as they pertain to their PHI

How does this benefit patients?

The goal is to assure individuals that their health information is being protected. It allows us to share pertinent health privacy.

Health Care Provider

Secure patient records

Take steps to limit use and disclosure of
PHI

Obtain authorization from a patient for use of PHI

What is Incidental Disclosure:

It is a disclosure that cannot be reasonably prevented, is limited in nature and occurs as a result of otherwise permitted use or disclosure.

Example of permissible incidental disclosure : A bedside conversation overheard by the patient in the next bed.

Disclosure of Protected Health Information

So what does this mean for me?

All clinical institutions expect that students are familiar with HIPAA and the Privacy Rule

You are expected to follow these guidelines when accessing information and providing care to patients.

You are held to the same standard as the licensed RN

Infractions will be handled with ZERO TOLERANCE as according to the policy.

Review the United States Department of health and Human Services OCR PRIVACY BRIEF on the web at:

www.hhs.gov/ocr/hipaa

CONAH Policy on Disciplinary Action for Violations of HIPAA by Students

As a student in a health professions program of the University of St. Francis, you are required abide by the health information privacy requirements of a federal law

Confirmation

You must click on the following link in order to acknowledge that you understand what you just read.

<https://myusf.stfrancis.edu/portal/secure/college/>